LONDON, JANUARY 19.

HE friends of his Majeſty are on every occaſion very eager to vindicate his piety, and to tell us, that he is a "virtuous Prince." Much is not to be ſaid againſt his Majeſty's private life on either ſide of the queſtion, for if it deſerves not much praiſe, we do not know that it deſerves much blame either; but it would ſeem that that conduct would require ſome apology, which though it does not openly practice vice, yet openly patroniſes it. We have not to object to his Majeſty that he himſelf ſets any bad example to his ſubjects; but if he takes into his favour men who are remarkable only for the profligacy and looſeneſs of their morals, ſomething remains ſtill to be done. This is not being virtuous: It is an indirect encouragement of vice.

It begins now to be reported that a Select Committee will be appointed to enquire into the cauſes of the misfortunes in which Public Credit is involved. An Inquiſition has long been wanted in the commercial world, a ſtep which could not fail of being followed by an amendment of our commercial and mercantile laws, which, though they ought, from their natural importance, to be of all others the moſt guarded and determinate, are (ſtrange to tell!) of all others the moſt defaultory and unſettled. This omiſſion, in a kingdom which had not yet paſſed the infancy of its commerce, might be excuſable; but in this kingdom, which affects to be at the head of all the commerce in the world, the fault will not admit of a palliative.

The various buſineſs relating to America will, after the ſubjects now before the Houſe of Commons are ſufficiently diſcuſſed, be taken under their conſideration.

The laſt accounts from India, we hear, are inconceivably flattering, and give the Directors of a great Company the higheſt ſpirits imaginable; Sha Allum, the lawful Emperor of Indoſtan, who has for a conſiderable time been baniſhed from the throne of his anceſtors, and oppoſed by a confederacy of tributary Princes, who wanted to ſhake off the Sovereignty of Delhi, has, aſſiſted by the Engliſh, acquired a ſignal victory over the braveſt nation of his enemies, killed a prodigious number of their troops, and taken treaſure to the amount of near three millions ſterling, with which, at the head of his victorious army, he is now preparing for a triumphal entry into his capital.

Bills are filed in Chancery againſt fourteen Nabobs, for malverſation, &c. in the Eaſt-Indies.

There is not an honeſt man in the kingdom who does not wiſh that theſe inhuman rich men may be brought to puniſhment or ſhame.

The leading line of Mr. Harris's plan for the re-eſtabliſhment of the Eaſt-India Company's affairs, and which will ſoon be laid before the conſideration of Parliament, is to export all the ſurplus teas in the Company's warehouſe duty-free, if Government will permit him.

A correſpondent mentions a village, in which are more than a hundred men, women and children, who have not taſted fleſh for ſeveral years, whoſe principal diet is bread and ſkimmed milk. Alſo an aged man of 115 years periſhing within theſe four years for want of proper nouriſhment, whoſe allowance from the Pariſh, (ſhocking to relate!) was only one ſhilling per week. Theſe are facts.

We are well informed, that the letters ſuppoſed to be written and called Lady Mary-Wortley Montague's letters, are abſolutely written by Mr. Cleveland, the celebrated author of the Memoirs of a Woman of Pleaſure. However, be it as it will, it does honour to both parties.

A private letter, received by a merchant in the city, dated Altona, Jan. 3, ſays, "Mr. Morris, the Engliſh gentleman, whoſe ſtory, with his young and amiable wife, has made ſo much noiſe, was again married this day to his fair ſpouſe, under a licence obtained by a ſpecial favour from our Sovereign, the King of Denmark.

JANUARY 21.

They write from Ratiſbon, that the greateſt ſcarcity of food is expected to be this year in thoſe parts which has been known for a long time back. The countries of Suabia and Bavaria have been ravaged by a prodigious quantity of rats and mice, which have devoured all the grain, the produce of the laſt harveſt. Theſe deſtructive animals are not all of the ſame kind, ſome being entirely red, and others of various colours.

The melancholy proſpect among the ſailors, and the ſhipping is now terrible. Our ſeamen are begging about the ſtreets for bread; ſhips that were fitted out and ready to ſail, are laid up: the river is now full of empty veſſels.

The ſtagnation of trade, the general ruin of merchants, have involved this nation in one ſcene of miſerable events! It behoves the legiſlature to ſtrike out ſome new plan to relieve diſtreſſes of the nation, and once more put trade in motion, otherwiſe, in a ſhort time, this kingdom will ſink ſo low as never to riſe again.

Ye giddy and luxurious, give up your wanton pleaſures and diſſipations; and if you have more money than your neceſſities require, lend it to the trader to ſave your country. Will nothing inſpire your ſouls with noble and charitable feelings? Remember the Roman ladies beſtowed all their jewels for the welfare of the commonwealth. Bluſh, repent, and relieve!

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, January 15.

"Our letters from Copenhagen talk much of a reconciliation being in great forwardneſs between the King of Denmark and Queen Caroline-Matilda, through the mediation of the Kings of Great-Britain and Pruſſia. Frequent couriers paſs between theſe Courts upon this occaſion, and it is ſaid that an Engliſh Nobleman of the firſt rank is expected at Copenhagen in a ſhort time, to put the finiſhing ſtroke to this affair."

JANUARY 23.

It being known that many capital houſes are in poſſeſſion of undoubted good bills, and are exceedingly diſtreſſed in not being able, in the preſent general alarm, to get them diſcounted, a meeting of ſome of the firſt monied men in the city was yeſterday held, in order to raiſe the ſum of 100,000l. for the purpoſe of diſcounting the good bills of ſuch houſes as ſhall appear, on an inſpection of their accounts, to be in an undoubted proſperous ſituation. It is certain that this public-ſpirited plan will meet with ſucceſs beyond its original intentions; and it promiſes the ſaireſt of any thing yet propoſed to ſtop the progreſs of that fatal diſtruſt now univerſally reigning in the commercial world.

The Dutch affairs begin to re-aſſume their order once more. A timely ſupply from a ſociety of the chief merchants there not only aſſiſted thoſe who had already given way, but ſaved others from falling.

A lady, the wife of a man of very conſiderable fortune in the neighbourhood of Berkley-ſquare, was on Monday evening laſt ſurpriſed in a very indecent familiar ſituation with her huſband's brother. The injured party was out of town, but the butler was ſent expreſs for him. The brother is decamped, and the lady ſtill remains in the houſe; but the huſband has not yet ſeen her.

Extract of a Letter from Peterſburgh, January 5.

"We have now the pleaſing intelligence to convey to you, that we have almoſt a certainty of the pacific ending of all differences between Ruſſia and the Porte. Within theſe few days, a Turkiſh courier of ſome dignity, attended by a guard of 20 and the Divan, that they had acceded to all the propoſals of the Empreſs of Ruſſia, and flattered themſelves the armiſtice would meet with no more obſtructions, but be happily concluded on both ſides. This was immediately made public, and received with great rejoicings."

AMSTERDAM, January 16. The venerable council of this city, for the ſupport of trade in its preſent critical ſituation, have agreed to lend ſums, at a moderate intereſt, upon goods not ſubject to periſh.

LONDON, JANUARY 26.

A certain Lady having obtained her certificate, was on Friday diſcharged from the King's Bench priſon.

The workmen in his Majeſty's dock-yards are preparing a petition to Parliament for an encreaſe of their pay, and making great intereſt among the members for the ſupport of it. They are about 7000 in number, and the ſcantineſs of their wages is ſcarcely half ſufficient to maintain their families. They have already petitioned the Board of Admiralty and his Majeſty, but without effect.

Amongſt the many regulations which Parliament intends making in the affairs of the Eaſt-India Company, we hear one is, to increaſe the ſalaries of the Directors to a much more conſiderable amount than they ſtand at preſent.

We hear that the preſent Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, a little after his entering into that office, publicly declared to ſeveral of the minority leaders in that kingdom, that an union with England was neither directly, nor indirectly, an object of his commiſſion. This frank declaration on a point they ſo much dreaded, has opened a proſpect of his becoming very popular.

There is ſomething extremely whimſical in this preſent age. While the eaſt end of this great metropolis is involved in a ſcene of general confuſion, the weſt is revelling in all the pleaſures that luxury can invent, or money purchaſe. The contraſt is ſtill more ſtriking in Scotland, where, though half the kingdom is already bankrupt, and the other half very likely to follow, they are juſt beginning to eſtabliſh there the moſt expenſive of all amuſements, the Maſquerade.

Extract of a Letter from Paris.

"A calculation is at length made of the loſs ſuſtained by the late fire in the Hotel Dieu. It appears that the fifth part of the whole has been demoliſhed, which will require, in order to repair it, an expence of at leaſt 1,800,000 livres. Towards this the King has given 20,000 livres; the Dauphin 6000; the Farmers General 12,000; beſides which ſeveral Noblemen and Gentlemen have given large contributions.

"The King has iſſued an edict, by which he appoints ten officers for the purpoſe of inſpecting affairs relating to Commerce and Credit, and of making new regulations in arreſts and impriſonments for civil debts."

Extract of a private Letter from the Hague, January 19.

"The following odd affair happened here laſt Friday. A ſoldier belonging to Douglaſs's regiment went to court, and deſired to be admitted to the Prince Stadtholder, having ſomething, as he pretended, of great conſequence to communicate to him. Being ſtrenuous in his demand, the Prince was informed of it, and ordered him to be introduced to him in his cloſet. There he told his Serene Highneſs, that he had happily diſcovered a plot which was formed againſt his life, by four men, who had provided themſelves with arms for that purpoſe, and were determined to put their deſign in execution the firſt favourable opportunity, which was propoſed to be in the evening, when his Highneſs went to the play. The Prince thanked him for his intelligence, but told him, at the ſame time, that he did not believe the truth of it. His Highneſs, however, ordered the man to be confined, and determined to make proper enquiry into the affair. The man afterwards confeſſed, that he only intended to get a few ducats; but failing in his attempt, and apprehending that he would ſuffer ſome puniſhment, he endeavoured to make a hole with his knife over the priſon-window, in order to make his eſcape. The goaler ſurpriſed him in the fact, and getting up in a chair to ſee what he had done, the ſoldier pulled the chair from under him, and attempted to cut his throat; but the thickneſs of his neck-cloth ſaved his life: However, the ſoldier ran away, and meeting the goaler's wife, he told her to go and help her huſband, who had fallen down and hurt himſelf; but ſhe had the preſence of mind to puſh the door to, and call for help, by which means the fellow was ſecured, and will probably meet with the puniſhment he deſerves."

COPENHAGEN (Denmark) Jan. 9. Lieutenant Leth is at laſt condemned to be ſhot, but it is to be hoped he will be pardoned. The high tribunal have declared the Sieur Thura, author of a paper, intitled, "The Prognoſticator," guilty of high treaſon, and, in conſequence, he is to ſuffer the ſame puniſhment as the Counts Brandt and Struenſee.

LONDON, JANUARY 28.

Yeſterday morning, about five o'clock the Queen was taken in labour, when his Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and the Right Honourable the Lord Chancellor, with officers of State, were ſent for; but before their arrival, her Majeſty was ſafely delivered of a Prince, about ten minutes before ſix, and both her Majeſty and the young Prince are as well as can be expected. At noon the Park and Tower guns were fired on the occaſion. The above is their Majeſty's ninth child, having now ſix Princes and three Princeſſes.

The ſame afternoon meſſengers were ſent with diſpatches to the Courts of Brunſwick, Mecklenburgh-Strelitz, and ſeveral other Courts, to notify the above happy event.

We hear that the Right Hon. the Lord Chancellor, Lord Mansfield, the Attorney-General, and Mr. Baron Eyre, are planning three bills under the inſpection of his Majeſty, to be brought into Parliament. One of which is to lower the price of proviſions, one concerning debtors, and the other a private bill.

Several meetings of Publicans in and about Weſtminſter have come to a reſolution of raiſing porter a halfpenny per pot. In plain Engliſh, the Brewer has put an additional duty of 3s. a butt on the Publican, who has conſcientiouſly agreed to rob his cuſtomers of 12s. a butt, and ſo put 15s. clear into his own pocket.

The Premier has lately been feeling the pulſe of the members of a great aſſembly with regard to the expected propoſition for increaſing the Civil Liſt—for that ſuch a propoſition is now in agitation, is without any doubt. Much oppoſition is expected in conſequence of ſo aſtoniſhing a demand; but as Lord North has ſaid he is reſolved to have it put up at the round million, it is eaſy to ſee how it will end.

It is ſuppoſed that the buſineſs relative to India will begin to open next week in the Lower Aſſembly, in conſequence of which the public will be able to gueſs what kind of meaſures the Miniſtry are to purſue in that buſineſs. The Secret Committee, upon whoſe faith and information Government are to proceed, is as complete a miniſterial jobb as ever was contrived. By their ſitting at the India-houſe, the few members who would oppoſe, and propoſe queſtions to them, are excluded, and their proceedings are at the ſame time locked up from every eye except their own, and ſuch friends as they chuſe to admit.

It is hinted, that private Superviſors have actually embarked for India by order of the direction; veſted with full powers to act there till they ſhall receive orders to the contrary.

A letter from Genoa ſays, "Letters received here from Madrid adviſe, that a report having gained ground there that there immediately ſet on foot, in conſequence of which they ſoon diſcovered and arreſted 15 of theſe holy Fathers at Madrid, and five at Pampelona, beſides ſeveral others at divers other places. They were conducted to priſon amidſt the acclamations of the multitude."

A large packet of letters which arrived at Bologna, and which were directed to the reverend fathers of the Society of Jeſus, were ſtopped at that place, it being conſidered that that body is now deprived of its immunities, and no longer enjoy their rights as a ſociety.

The American revenues are annually decreaſing, the duties on trade being continually dwindling away in conſequence of the new regulations adopted there. Theſe are the revenues with which the ſagacious Lord Hillſborough once propoſed to pay off the national debt of Great-Britain.

Lord Sandwich ſays, that he will ſupport the approaching application to Parliament in favour of the clerical petitioners with all his heart; for (continues his Lordſhip) if theſe d—n'd articles are not expunged, we ſhall have no religion left in the nation, by G—d.

It is remarked, that the Lady of a certain Archbiſhop keeps more routs and more polite entertainments at her houſe, than any other lady of quality in the circle of St. James's. It is alſo remarked, that the Archbiſhop himſelf is the moſt zealous declaimer againſt the maſquerades of any in the boſom of the church. Query, Had not Piety, like Charity, better begin at home?

That ſpendthrift young gentleman, Mr. Charles Fox, is driven by his diſtreſſes to negotiate new loans upon annuities. The number and amount of thoſe which he is already involved in are equal to a very handſome eſtate, and would take much time in being redeemed even by a man more frugal than this young gentleman.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, January 19.

"According to the lateſt accounts from Buchareſt, the negociations for peace promiſe the moſt happy conſequences. It is confirmed, that the Turks have conſented to the independence of the Crimea, and the free navigation of the Black Sea; and the Ruſſian Plenipotentiaries have propoſed to the Turks to extend this navigation to the Engliſh and Dutch; but no anſwer has yet been made to this propoſal.

"Letters from the Lower Elbe adviſe, that it was not owing to the King of Pruſſia alone that the congreſs of Fockzany was broke up; but that the Court of Vienna had likewiſe a hand in it, and that the Grand Signior firſt ſaw through their ſchemes, and diſcovered them to the Court of Peterſburgh. The report that prevailed ſome time ago, that the King of Pruſſia was in treaty with the Duke of Mecklenbourg Schwerin, to exchange the Duchy of Cleves for that of Mecklenbourg, is true; and a negotiation for this purpoſe is now carrying on between them, but it is not conducted with great ſecrecy."

JANUARY 29.

Neither the Dukes of Glouceſter nor Cumberland were ſent for when her Majeſty was brought to bed, though as princes of the blood they were entitled to ſuch a diſtinction, previous to any of the Great Officers of the Crown.

A few days ſince Captain Cartwright, and the family of Eſquimaux which came over with him, paid a viſit to Dr. Hunter, where amongſt other curioſities, they were ſhewn a human ſkeleton, which threw them into a moſt violent agony, and it was a conſiderable time before they got the better of the terrible impreſſion it made on them.

The principal intention of bringing the Eſquimaux from their own country into this kingdom, is to give them an idea of the Engliſh power, magnificence, and hoſpitality, which it is ſuppoſed will, at their return, influence their nation to behave in an amicable manner to our new ſettlers on the coaſt of Labrador.

It is ſaid, that the meaſure which the Publicans are about to adopt, viz. raiſing the price of their beer, is contrary to law, and as ſuch will be oppoſed. It is contended, that it will be neceſſary to procure the ſanction of Parliament in a ſtep ſo intereſting to the people at large.

Extract of a Letter from Gibraltar, December 26.

"The Moors and Spaniards have for ſome time paſt ceaſed their hoſtilities both at ſea and land; and it is now imagined, that every difference will ſoon be ſettled, eſpecially as the Emperor of Morocco has appointed a Baſſa as Ambaſſador to the Court of Madrid, who is to ſettle and ſign the preliminaries of peace in the name of his Imperial Maſter.

JANUARY 30.

Yeſterday there was a full Board of Admiralty, when ſome freſh inſtructions were ſent down to the Commiſſioners of the different dock yards.

The affairs of America have within theſe few weeks been under conſideration in the Cabinet, and it is reported that they will very ſhortly be the ſubject of particular diſcuſſion in a great Aſſembly.

We hear, that before the cloſe of this Seſſions of Parliament, a ſtrict ſcrutiny will be made into the conduct of other public companies beſides the Eaſt-India Houſe; that of the Trinity Corporation wants moſt reformation.——A gentleman who underſtands engineering and hydrulics perfectly well, will make it appear before the Houſe of Commons, that with the revenue of the Trinity Houſe for theſe laſt twenty-five years, he would, by means of horſe machines, have ſo cleanſed the bed of the river, that an Eaſt-Indiaman, with all her guns and loading, might with the utmoſt ſafety navigate to the Cuſtom-houſe. 'Tis certain that all the revenue of the Trinity Company ſhould be employed to the utmoſt advantage: if they would raiſe ballaſt with horſes inſtead of men, and ſupply the Whitechapel and Kent road with gravel, they might ſink every point in the river twenty feet perpendicular.

The Parliament of Ireland which ſtood prorogued to Tueſday the 26th inſtant, is further prorogued to Tueſday the 2d day of March next.

Letters from Paris, by yeſterday's mail, inform us, that on a ſtrict examination the number of thoſe who periſhed in the great fire at the Hotel Dieu, amounted only to fourteen burnt, and nineteen wounded. Great numbers of patients, at firſt thought to have been loſt, were found at different houſes, where they had taken refuge in their fright.

It is reported that thirty Thouſand Pruſſians have entered Courland, and that there has been a ſharp recounter between the Pruſſians and Poles at Kaliſch, in which the latter had the advantage; but we cannot warrant the authenticity of this news.

We hear from Paris, that the inhabitants of the Duchy of Cleves, have put themſelves under the protection of that Court, who have ordered thirty thouſand men, under the command of Field-Marſhal Chetardie and General Tennevolt, to enter their territories, to preſerve their independency againſt the deſigns of their ambitious neighbour Frederick.

The Prince of Wales, we are told, is not now permitted to read any of the news-papers, he having lately made ſome remarks, which gave great Umbrage.

Under the beſt of Kings, how ſhall we account for the many complaints that are continually made throughout the nation? In former times there have been Miniſters that groſsly abuſed both King and people. If that ſhould be the caſe at preſent, certainly it is the duty of Parliament to redreſs ſuch abuſe. The nation is ſick at heart; they are her proper phyſicians; from them, and them only, the balmy cure can come.

CHARLES-TOWN, APRIL 19.

BY Capt. Coombes from London, we have Advice, that on the 27th of January last died there, after only ten Days Illness, Mr. Lambert Lance, of this Town, formerly a Merchant here, but had retired from Business.

Amongst the Passengers arrived in Capt. Coombes, last Tuesday, is, Mr. John Bush, of this Town, Merchant, in Partnership with Mr. Thomas Elliott.

"On Monday last, being Easter-Monday, a Board of Justices for Charles-Town assembled, to grant Licences for retailing Spirituous Liquors, within their Jurisdiction, pursuant to the Laws of this Province, when great Attention was paid to the Merit of those who applied for such Licences. Such Persons as had been licenced before, and had no Complaints made against them for Irregularities in their Houses, had their Licences readily renewed:—Such as had incurred Complaints, were indulged according to the Circumstances of the Case, either with a further Trial of their Conduct, with proper Reprimands, or totally rejected; and such others as were deemed unworthy were dismissed. Some, tho' very few, appearing fit Persons, received new Licences. Through the whole Business, due Regard was had to the Public Good:—And the Board took great Notice of the same Persons signing a Number of Recommendations; and of the Impropriety, not to say the Impertinence, of some in very inferior Stations, intruding their Names as Recommenders, contrary to the true Intent of the Order made some Time ago, requiring Recommendations from respectable and disinterested Persons.——As the Complaints have been numerous, and just, against the Disorders in the Police of this Town, the Inhabitants must be well pleased with every Attempt towards a Reformation."

On Tuesday last, the Anniversary Meeting of the SOUTH-CAROLINA SOCIETY was held, when the following Officers were chosen for the ensuing Year, viz.

Mr. DANIEL CANNON, }
Mr. JOHN M'CALL, Treasurer. } Re-elected.
SAMUEL PRIOLEAU, Esq; Clerk. }
Mr. JAMES WAKEFIELD, } Constables.
Mr. WILLIAM HOPKINS, }

The Anniversary Meeting of the Fellowship Society, the Object of whose Institution is, the erecting of an Hospital or Infirmary for Lunaticks, &c. was held last Wednesday.—According to annual Custom, a Sermon was then delivered in Saint Michael's Church (by the Rev. Mr. Bullman) and a Collection made at the Door, amounting to 201 l. to which 63 l. was added the same Day, by private Donations. The Officers chosen that Day for the current Year, are,

Mr. EDWARD OATS, President;
Mr. JOHN FULLERTON, } Wardens;
Mr. EDWARD LEGGE, jun. }
Mr. WILLIAM TRUSLER, Treasurer;
Mr. WILLIAM FORD, Secretary;
Mr. JOHN LYONS, } Stewards.
Mr. JAMES COOK, }

Towards accomplishing their laudable and benevolent Purpose, this Society are already possessed of Five Lots in Hampstead, making together one of the Squares of that Village.

Last Friday Noon died, in Consequence of a Fall which he had from his Horse on Monday, and in the 33d Year of his Age, the social, benevolent, humane, affable and friendly THOMAS LOUGHTONSMITH, Esq; a Native and eminent Merchant of this Town, and one of the Representatives of the Parish of St. Michael, in the present General Assembly.—The GENERAL GAZETTE, of last Friday, has said MUCH of this valuable Man, yet NOT MORE than is TRUE.—No Member of this Community ever lived more universally and deservedly esteemed here: And it is indeed true, in this Instance, that many Gentlemen (of Mr. Smith's numerous Friends and Acquaintance) have "put themselves in deep Mourning, on the "melancholly Occasion of so great a Loss, and to testify their "Respect to the Memory of so worthy a Character."

Price demanded for Rice 65*s.* but we have not heard of more than 60*s.* being yet given. The Quantity cleared since 1st of November last, 83,748 Tierces. There is not near so much in the Country as was supposed; the Crop will be found amazingly short.

 STUDIOSUS came too late to be inserted in this Day's Gazette, but shall have a Place in our next,—as shall several ADVERTISEMENTS now omitted.

Mr. POWELL.

The following being the Production of a Female's Pen, the inserting of it in your next Gazette, will greatly oblige,

Yours, &c. J. W.

An ELEGY from a LADY, On the Death of her Husband.

FOR Thee all Thoughts of Pleasure I forego;
For Thee my Tears shall never cease to flow:
For Thee at once I from the World retire,
To feed in silent Shades my hopeless Fire.
My Bosom all thy Image shall retain;
The full Impression there shall still remain.
As Thou hast taught my constant Heart to prove
The noblest Height and Elegance of Love;
That sacred Passion I to Thee confine,
My spotless Faith shall be for ever thine.

For SALE privately,

The following Property of BENJAMIN GUERARD,

Which he is desirous of SELLING,

To have his Interest in one Place, viz.

A Very valuable Tract of 1000 Acres of Land, situate in Prince William's Parish, between Combahee and Port-Royal Ferries, having on it a Sufficiency of choice high Land for two profitable Indico Plantations; between which Two Hundred and Fifty Barrels of Rice may be made in a Year, as Ground to yield that Quantity of Barrels can be flowed with Water:—No Part of it was ever planted, but Sixty or Eighty Acres are cleared to begin one Plantation, FRESH and NEW, and therefore the BETTER and CHEAPER. It is esteemed as fine a Tract for its Size as most in the Province, the up Land being high, so that Land Floods can never hurt the Crops of Indico and Corn thereon planted:——The Purchaser, from the Red-Oak Trees that must unavoidably come down, in order to his making his Fields, may strip a vast Number of Cords of Bark.

So complete a Tract as this, and of the like Distance from Charles-Town, is very rarely to be found for Sale; which would require no Recommendation, if a View by every one in Want of such could be taken of it, and which, considering the high Price of good Lands, will be sold cheap.——It pays no Quit-Rents, being Part of the Rich Lands included in Thomas Lowndes's Grant; and, as 'tis too late in the Season to prepare for Planting for the ensuing Crop, the Purchaser's Bond shall not carry Interest 'till Six Months from the Date are elapsed.

A delightful RETREAT,

Eight Miles by Land or Water from Town, known to be as well situated for Pleasantness and Agreeableness of Prospect as most Seats in the Province; on which, open to several Parts of that beautiful River, Ashley River, stands an elegant House, with handsome commodious Offices.

With which will be SOLD,

The large Quantity of very genteel Furniture Now in the said House.

A very easy and desirable Distance for a Carriage and Four or Six Horses, as a Gentleman may come to his Business in Town in the Morning, and return to his Family in the Evening.—— The Inconvenience of not having such a Place for a Family, is at all Times great, and much more so, when contagious Disorders rage in the Metropolis, or those few Months in the Year arrive, so destructive to Infants kept in Town.

It contains Three Hundred Acres of Land, and is allowed to have the best Pasture in the Neighbourhood (having kept all the Cattle thereabouts in good Condition for several Years past) of which Two are now inclosed with a strong new Fence, as is also a Meadow for making Hay; has great Plenty of Fencing and Fire-Wood Trees, and, by a Gentleman having a Turn that Way, may be made a Place of some Profit as well as Pleasure, as good Crops of Corn have been made on it, and one Year, when planted with that Grain, Sixty Barrels of Rice; but what can be more Profitable to grow on it than the Grass it luxuriantly bears, as HAY (made with a very few Hands) is an Article of so great Demand in Town, and never sells for less than Ten Pounds per Thousand Weight, although often near One-Third Brambles.——It may be viewed at any Time.

His Two HOUSES in Town;

The one on the Corner of the Bay, near the Exchange, and the other adjoining, in Broad-Street, which (and that very low) rent for £. 960 per Annum, and are so advantageously situated for Trade, as will never be untenated;—besides which Advantage, it is well known these Houses were not built as those which are intended to be Lett, no Cost nor Pains being spared in getting the Materials the best of their Kind, which were put together in the most faithful and neat Manner:—The Wood Materials are of the best of Yellow Pine and Black Cypress, and the Mortar made of Fresh-Water River Gravel, so strong a Cement as that none of the Tiles in the Great Hurricane 1752, were blown off, whilst the Roofs of most of the Houses tiled or slated were entirely uncovered thereby.

It has been often desired that the Corner House should be made a COFFEE-HOUSE,—£. 1050 a Year Rent will be insured, but there is no Doubt that £. 1100 can be got for them, as the Rents were never increased since the Building of the Exchange, as should be.—The Terms to the Purchasers shall be made as convenient as they can desire.——Please to apply to

JACOB VALK.

LONDON, JANUARY, 29.

An authentic ACCOUNT of Tuesday's Proceedings in the HOUSE of COMMONS.

AT three o'clock, the Speaker being ſeated, the orders of the day were read. Mr. Sawbridge got up.

Mr. Sawbridge.—Mr. Speaker,—Sir, I riſe, according to my promiſe, to make a third time the motion I have twice before made in the two preceding ſeſſions, for leave to bring in a bill to ſhorten the duration of Parliaments. However anxious my wiſhes are, I muſt confeſs that I do not flatter myſelf with any hopes of preſent ſucceſs; for I cannot expect any aſſiſtance from thoſe members of the Houſe who are now in Adminiſtration, nor from thoſe who have been in Adminiſtration, nor yet from thoſe enthuſiaſtic general admirers of the revolution, who hold every thing as ſacred that has flowed from it; and think, becauſe it was a remedy for former evils, that we need not concern ourſelves about its ſubſequent abuſes. For my own part, I own, I differ ſo much from theſe laſt gentlemen, that, in my opinion, it were better to have had no reſolution, and to have continued our old race of tyrants, than to ſee a ſeptennial Parliament eſtabliſhed under any family whatever. The only ſupport the preſent motion can expect muſt come from thoſe who act on a genuine, unmixed principle of public good, and an opinion of the duty they owe to their conſtituents: In ſhort, from thoſe who conſider themſelves, as they are, the ſervants, not the maſters of the people. Whatever may at preſent be the number of the repreſentatives, I will continue to truſt that a day muſt at length come, when they will once more compoſe a majority in this Houſe, and reſtore to us again that honeſt and equal conſtitution, to which this nation is indebted for all its glory and proſperity, and for which alone the people can again enjoy juſtice, ſecurity, and happineſs.

Sir, I have already, upon the two former occaſions, ſo fully ſtated the grounds and motives of my motion, that I need not now enter into a long detail of them, I ſhall therefore only repeat to you, that we are indebted to the old Saxon conſtitution for every valuable privilege we enjoy. It continued to flouriſh inviolate for more than five hundred years, and preſerved its vigour merely by a real repreſentation of the people, and by ſhort Parliaments. From the Norman invaſion, until the Reign of Henry III. they were either diſcontinued, or not ſuffered to have effect. From which period, after a glorious ſtruggle of more than half a century, this valuable acquiſition, a ſhort Parliament, was recovered, and the conſtitution happily brought to its firſt principles. The frequency of Parliaments, and their happy conſequences are incontrovertible from that time till the reign of that bloody tyrant Henry VIII. under whom they were again lengthened and who ſet the firſt example of a ſeven years Parliament. Their ſcandalous corruption, and the bloody acts of that monſter of cruelty, which they authoriſed, are the beſt comments on the firſt ſeptennial Parliament. From his demiſe till the time of the rump Parliament, we were freed from this only ſure bane of Engliſh liberty. To this laſt ſucceeded the long penſioned Parliament of Charles II. whoſe acts and whoſe corruption are too recent and too well known to need any animadverſion. After the revolution, many wiſe and independant good men endeavoured once more to put it out of the power of future bad Princes, or corrupt Miniſters, to do any effectual miſchief to the conſtution; and they found it impoſſible to effect this ſecurity by any other means but a ſhort Parliament. They at length prevailed ſo far as to obtain the triennial bill to be paſſed into a law. All the advantages of which were again loſt, by paſſing the fatal ſeptennial bill in the year 1715. Whether Parliaments have been more pure or more corrupt ſince this eſtabliſhment, let every honeſt man judge. I do, therefore, Sir, as the only poſſible remedy for all the evils we have ſeen and felt, and fear, now humbly move for leave to bring in a bill to ſhorten the duration of Parliaments.

The Lord Mayor.—I deſire to ſecond this motion, though with as little expectation of preſent ſucceſs as my honourable friend who moved it. I know too well the diſpoſition of this Houſe, and the reaſons which the majority have to prefer a ſeven years to a ſhorter leaſe, to believe that any propoſal, which tends to alter their ſituation, will be admitted. However, I hope, and firmly truſt, that he will perſevere in an annual repetition of this motion, undiſmayed with the preſent reception it may meet with.

As ſoon as the Lord Mayor had finiſhed, there was a general clamour from all ſides of the Houſe, crying—"the queſtion! the queſtion! the queſtion!" And no perſon appearing willing to ſay a ſingle word upon the ſubject, the Speaker was going to put the queſtion, when Mr. Sheriff Oliver ſtarted from his ſeat.

Mr. Oliver.—I riſe, Mr. Speaker, in behalf of Adminiſtration, (the Houſe was inſtantly in a dead ſilence, and every ear turned to attention(—"and of Oppoſition joinly;" becauſe on this ſubject they appear to be united. And I deſire to give a few reaſons in favour of a great majority of this Houſe, who are going to vote againſt the preſent queſtion, without having any argument at all in their own juſtification.

Sir, the very being of ſuch an Adminiſtration as the preſent, —and of ſuch an Oppoſition as the preſent, depends upon the continuance of long Parliaments.

By the wiſe conſtitution of this country, the executive part of government was entirely veſted in the King. A fixed and permanent ſyſtem of laws was eſtabliſhed as the meaſure of his government. The forms and ceremonies of legal proceedings were intruſted to the Judges. But the ſolid application of juſtice, and the diſpoſal of their property, remained ſolely in the people. Of ſuch a Conſtitution an occaſional or ſhort Parliament was a neceſſary part. A part of the CONSTITUTION, but no part of the GOVERNMENT. Parliament was by no means to govern; but merely to be a check upon Government, to watch over the King and Courts of Juſtice, to guard the rights and privileges of the people, and in their name, and by their appointment and direction, to grant occaſional national ſupplies for national purpoſes.

The natural conſequence (which indeed we have experienced) of long Parliaments, is to make them forget and neglect the very ends of their inſtitution; and to conſider themſelves no longer as mere delegates and attornies of the people, but as perſons choſen for ſeven years to be the abſolute Governors of the country.

The ſame conſiderations will ſerve to juſtify the bulk of oppoſition who vote againſt the preſent queſtion. They have already been, and it is not improbable to ſuppoſe that they may be again in office on the ſame plan. They have therefore no objection to a long Adminiſtration Parliament, provided themſelves compoſe a part of it.

Mr. Duntze.—Sir, I have a very great reſpect for the character of the honourable member who moved this queſtion, though I have not the honour of his acquaintance: and I am confident, that he is well perſuaded of the propriety of the motion he has made; and yet, Sir, I own my ſentiments differ very wide from his. I cannot think that this plan of a ſhort Parliament will obtain any of the advantages hoped for, or prevent any of the grievances complained of. On the contrary, it will be attended with numberleſs miſchiefs beyond what we now ſuffer.—I appeal to every gentleman who hears me, what diſtractions, diſturbances, and confuſion, always attend the preſent elections. If Parliaments were triennial, there would be very little interruption to thoſe diſorders; and if they were annual, the diſturbances would be perpetual. Beſides, Sir, what proſpect would there be of a fair election; What gentlemen would petition? and, if they did petition, how could it be determined? Sir, the Parliament would be diſſolved, before half the petitions would be heard. Sir, we would have nothing but falſe returns, confuſion, and diſturbance. And therefore, Sir, for the ſake of peace, I ſhall be againſt the queſtion.

As ſoon as Mr. Duntze had finiſhed, the cry was repeated from every ſide of the Houſe——"The Queſtion, the Queſtion." Which being put, and a diviſion demanded, there appeared to be 233 againſt the queſtion, and only 45 for it.

On Wedneſday there was no debate.

HOUSES of LORDS and COMMONS.

Reſolved, That an humble and loyal addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, on the ſafe delivery of the Queen, and the birth of another Prince, and that it be preſented by the Lords with white ſtaves.

The Commons, in a committee of the whole Houſe, deferred the bill for conſidering the price of corn and proviſions to Wedneſday.

Reſolved, That an humble addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty on the ſafe delivery of the Queen, and the birth of another Prince, and that it be preſented by the members of the Privy Council.

On Wedneſday the Houſe was moved, that the order made on Tueſday, that the call of the Houſe be adjourned to that day three months, might be read: which being done, the order was diſcharged.

The Houſe then ordered the call of the Houſe to be fixed for that day three weeks, the 17th of February next; and that ſuch members as ſhall not then attend be ſent for in cuſtody of the Serjeant at Arms.

JANUARY 30.

The Lord Chancellor reported his Majeſty's anſwer to their addreſs on the ſafe delivery of the Queen and the birth of another Prince.

The Commons deferred ways and means to Monday; in a commiitee of the whole houſe, came to ſeveral reſolutions to be reported on Monday.

Lord Hinchinbrooke reported his Majeſty's anſwer to their congratulatory addreſs on the ſafe delivery of the Queen and the birth of another Prince, which was graciouſly received.

Ordered, That the Eaſt India Committee do make a report to this Houſe of their general conſultations, and of the eſtimates delivered to the Eaſt India Company by their chief engineer.
